What's Your Legacy?

The road to retirement can be wild. And crazy...

We all want to truly enjoy our later years, and still preserve as much as we can for a financial legacy to pass on to our loved ones. When we're gone we want to be remembered for the love and values we passed down. The last thing we would ever want to leave our family is a financial mess.

Join us for a one-hour workshop covering important legacy topics - retirement asset protection with growth, planning for final expenses, teaching our children how to create a strong retirement plan, providing a fast financial start for our grandchildren.

Senior specialists Tom Franklin and Mike Hall will share important information to help us see where we stand, and create a vision for our legacy.

Donuts and coffee will be served. Dress comfortably and come prepared to take notes, and ask questions.
